

RESEARCH APPLICATION TO FOXG1 RESEARCH FOUNDATION

APPLICATION PROCEDURES:

Thank you for approaching the FOXG1 Research Foundation, a 501c(3) non-profit corporation that aims to establish a network of researchers who work synergistically to identify innovative therapeutic strategies for FOXG1 syndrome. We greatly appreciate your work, and the effort undertaken to complete this application. Your proposal will be assessed by our Chief Scientific Director and external reviewers including members of our Scientific Advisory Board (SAB). Please anticipate a response within 60 days.

Specific Aims: The Specific Aims should not exceed one (1) page and should be a summary of the proposed project focused on the research aims of the project, including a concise rationale for the hypothesis, description of feasibility/preliminary data and experimental approach, and impact on FOXG1 Syndrome.

Proposal Narrative: The Proposal Narrative should be considered an expanded version of the Specific Aims Page and provide more detail on the following:

- Relevant scientific background
- Feasibility/preliminary results
- Specific aims
- Experimental design
- Pitfalls and alternative strategies
- Project significance and relevance to FOXG1 Syndrome
- Timeline and milestones

(6 pages including figures (excluding references), size 11, single-spaced, 0.5 margins)

Lay Summary: Please include a 250-word summary of your project that is accessible to a wide audience, including those without formal scientific/clinical training. Please note, if approved for funding, this narrative will be distributed to our members and the community through advocacy and fundraising efforts.

CV: Please include an up-to-date NIH biosketch of the principal investigator, including a link to publications.

GRANTING PROCEDURES:

If your proposal is accepted, we require proof of IRB approval from your (and any involved) institution prior to awarding funding.

Grant Term: Unless otherwise specified, grants administered through FOXG1 Research Foundation are for a period of 1 year; we encourage applications for an extension of funding.

Overhead Fees: As we are a small, parent driven Foundation, we do not cover overhead fees.

Reporting: After funding is awarded, we will request written progress reports at 6 month intervals. A written report template will be provided.
